

Pin it

1. TO CHOOSE BETWEEN YOU AND HIS MOTHER

Whatever your issue is with his mother—maybe he sometimes puts her first over you or you two simply don't get along—drop it for your husband's (and your relationship's) sake. She is, after all, the reason he exists in the first place. "Will it kill you to let her sit in the passenger seat when he drives, and you take the rear? Yes, it's demeaning, but keep the situation in perspective," says relationship expert April Masini. "Don't put the burden of your issues with her on him. You'll drive a wedge between the two of you, not him and his mom."

MORE IN RELATIONSHIPS

7 Times You Should Be Selfish In Your...

Give, give, give. It's what women often do. And that's great. But sometimes we...

GH Good Housekeeping

Here's How to Handle Being in the Friend Zone

So, you've got this friend. He makes your heart quicken to the point where you can...

G Glamour