

CNBC | YAHOO! FINANCE | BIG DATA DOWNLOAD | Actionable insights from bytes | Watch now

Forever Alone: 7 Reasons You Didn't Get that Second Date

By Babble.com | Love + Sex - Tue, Aug 6, 2013 1:14 PM EDT

Home | Mail | News | Sports | Finance | Weather | Games | Groups | Answers | Flickr | More

Sign In | Mail

Photo by: iStockphoto

You Got Drunk

"Don't have more than two cocktails on a first date. If you get drunk, he's going to think you're always like that, and he's probably not looking for someone who can't say no to alcohol, or gets sloppy, easily. "

- Relationship expert and author, April Masini; AskApril.com less

5 / 7

It can be frustrating and confusing looking for the love of your life and if you're the type of person who enjoys meeting new people, going on multiple dates is probably a lot of fun. If you're more shy or reserved, these first dates could be stress-inducing and even more so when you can't figure out why you didn't get asked on a second date. I asked relationship and dating experts if they could share some of the top reasons men and women don't get asked to go on a second date and guess what, it may not be all your fault. If you've been on more first dates than second ones, there may be a good reason why. Click through for 7 reasons you didn't get that second date! -By Devan McGuinness

MORE ON BABBLE

7 things ALL women want in bed